

Nikki Prather

Texas Deputy State Director, The Humane Society of the United States, is a native Texan and graduate of The University of Texas at Austin. She has been with HSUS since 2017 and has lobbied at the state, federal and local level. Prather worked on-the-ground with HSUS' response to Hurricane Harvey, transporting adoptable pets out of state to safety. Prior professional experience includes foster program manager for the San Antonio Humane Society and humane education instructor for wildlife conservation and sustainability at the San Antonio Zoo.