Kay Perry Bio

Kay Perry began her career as an attorney in 1999 with the U.S. Army Judge Advocate General's Corps, serving until 2005. She then practiced law as a civilian attorney at the U.S. Army Medical Command Headquarters, located at Fort Sam Houston, Texas. In that position, Kay primarily worked on health insurance and Medicare-related legal issues. In 2008, she accepted a position at the University of Texas Health Science Center-San Antonio as a Regulatory Analyst for Research Operations, where she gave advice on legal issues pertaining to clinical (medical) research, in particular Medicare and insurance billing matters. Kay operated her own law office from 2009-2016. In November 2016, she began working at the Joint Base San Antonio-Lackland, Texas, base legal office as a civilian employee. She also joined the Air Force Reserves as a JAG attorney in 2016.

Kay is licensed to practice law in both Texas and Missouri. She has a bachelor's degree from North Dakota State University and earned her law degree from the University of Missouri-Columbia. She served as an enlisted soldier in the U.S. Army Reserves while in law school, until receiving her commission into the JAG Corps.

She is active in several professional organizations including serving as the Chair of the Military and Veterans Law Section of the State Bar of Texas and was a past President of the San Antonio Chapter of the Federal Bar Association.
